

- The Digital pillar I am promoting is Kindness
- The person I admire that has showed Kindness is when I was sad and this person cheered me up by saying things positive.
- This pillar is important to me in creating a positive online reputation because if you are being kind from the start, you start to build a good reputation, and this good reputation will benefit you in the future by you getting approved by the job you would like to have, and will boost your social well-being.
